Bay Area Artist Gives “Body” A New Coat of Paint

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.,--July 9, 2006-- The Body Archive Gallery in New York City is being touched by the brushes of Bay Area Painter David Nyquist.

From July 10, 2006 thru July 15, 2006 – David will paint a mural on the rooftop of the Body Archive Gallery. The Body Archive Gallery is located between 12th & 13th street, #9 Ninth Avenue, in the meat packing district - across the street from the world famous Hotel Gansevoort, in the “Big Apple”.

David had been meeting with other artists discussing their vision to use the arts to impact culture. In an effort to begin the process, Nyquist posted on Craigslist all over the country, offering his muraling skills in exchange for wall space. Nyquist received replies from all over the country including San Francisco, New Orleans, Los Angeles and New York. Soon after, “Revival Art” was founded. The goal - to bring truth, life, beauty and reality through painted images and to use the art to revive communities.

The Body Archive Gallery in New York is managed by Stephen Speliotis. Stephen has given David a green light on the painting, and David has full creative control for the piece. According to Nyquist, we can expect to see a contemporary mural painting, with a theme yet to be unveiled. He says, “Some artists plan ahead for what they will paint, but I find that the process of evaluating my surroundings to determine my art creates a more fulfilling piece that speaks to me and to the viewer. So I approach the mural on faith, not knowing where the art will take me, but knowing I will find the destination in the process.”

To have David’s art work displayed at your business or residence, you can visit www.revivalart.org for more information.
